

Bridging the gap between science and policy to achieve our climate and nature goals

Simon Fuller

Deputy Director - Rural & Environmental Science and Analytical Services

Scottish Government

BIODIVERSITY COLLAPSE

CLIMATE CHANGE

DEFORESTATION

BE SURE TO WASH YOUR HANDS AND ALL WILL BE WELL

19

Climate and Nature Crises are the biggest threats we face

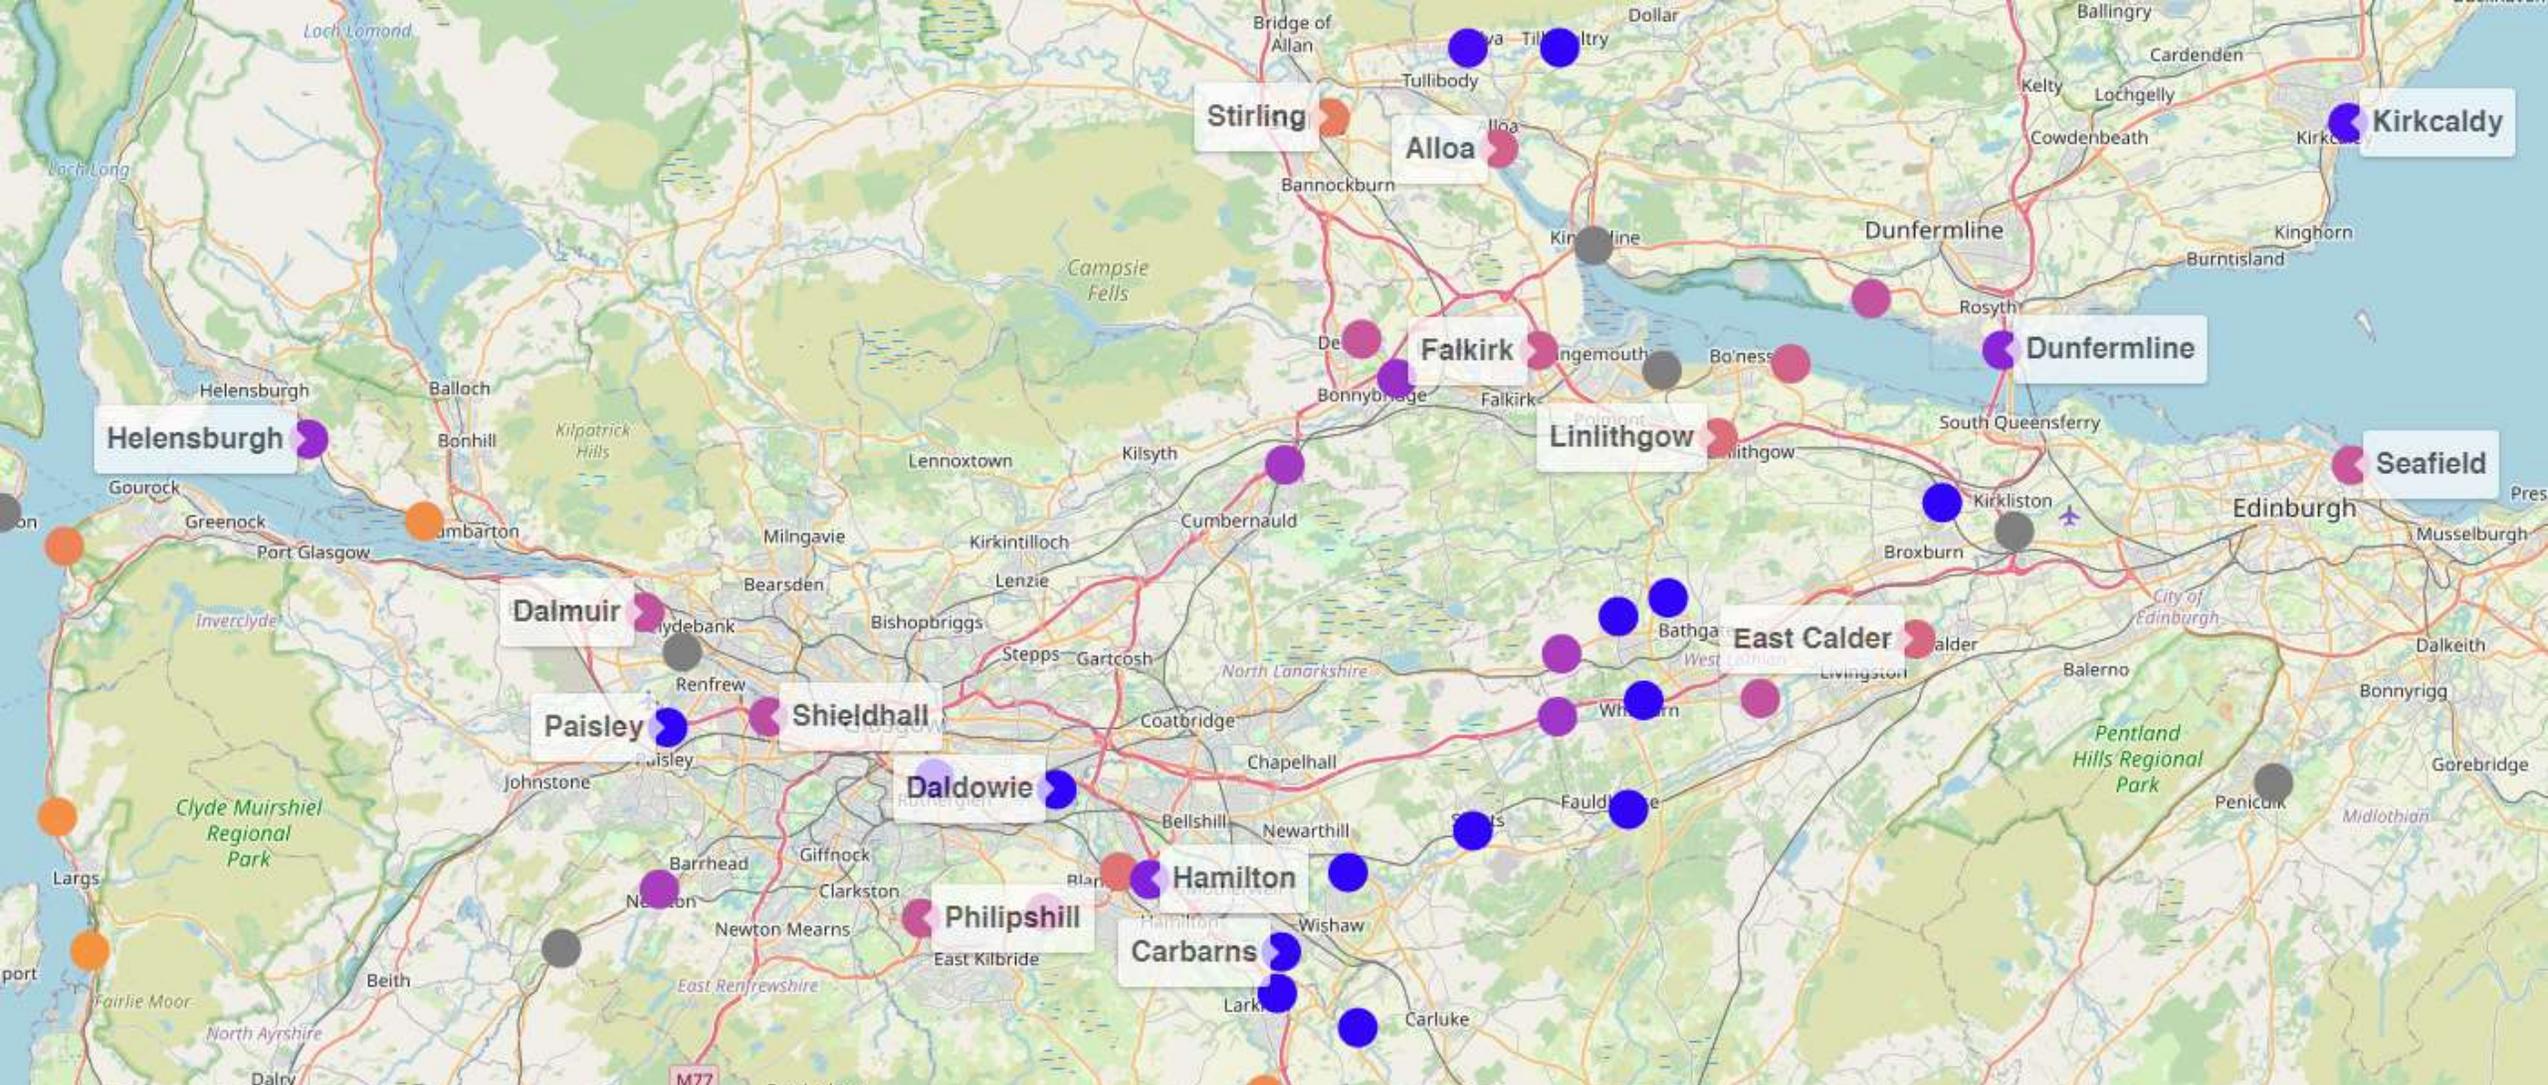

Meeting of the First Minister's Environment Council

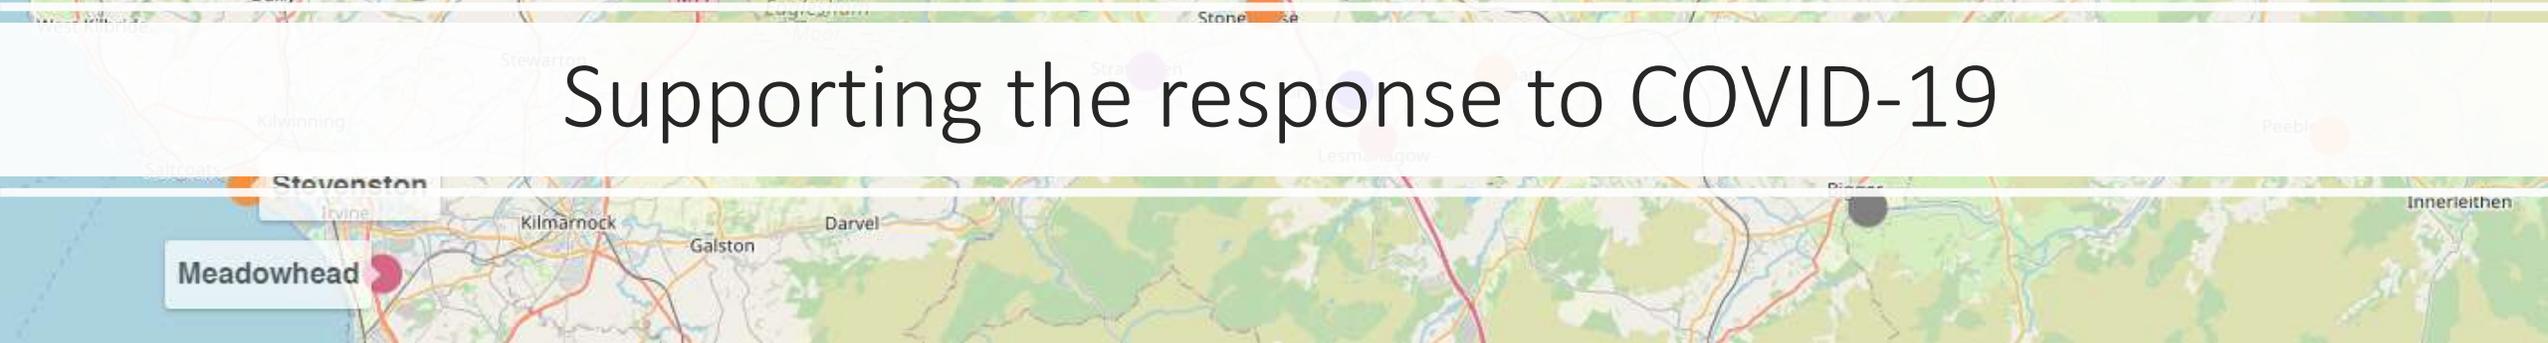

Peatland Restoration is key to achieving Net Zero

Informing future agricultural policy

Supporting the response to COVID-19

What lessons can we learn?

Continuous engagement between researchers and policy teams is key

We need a shared understanding of the research and policy processes

Broadening networks

NATIONAL CONFERENCE
2023 connecting trees,

farmers and foresters

#FarmingAndForestry

SESSION SIX

Natural Capital and Environment Added Value

 Wednesday 26 April

 13:30 - 15:00

Hosted by

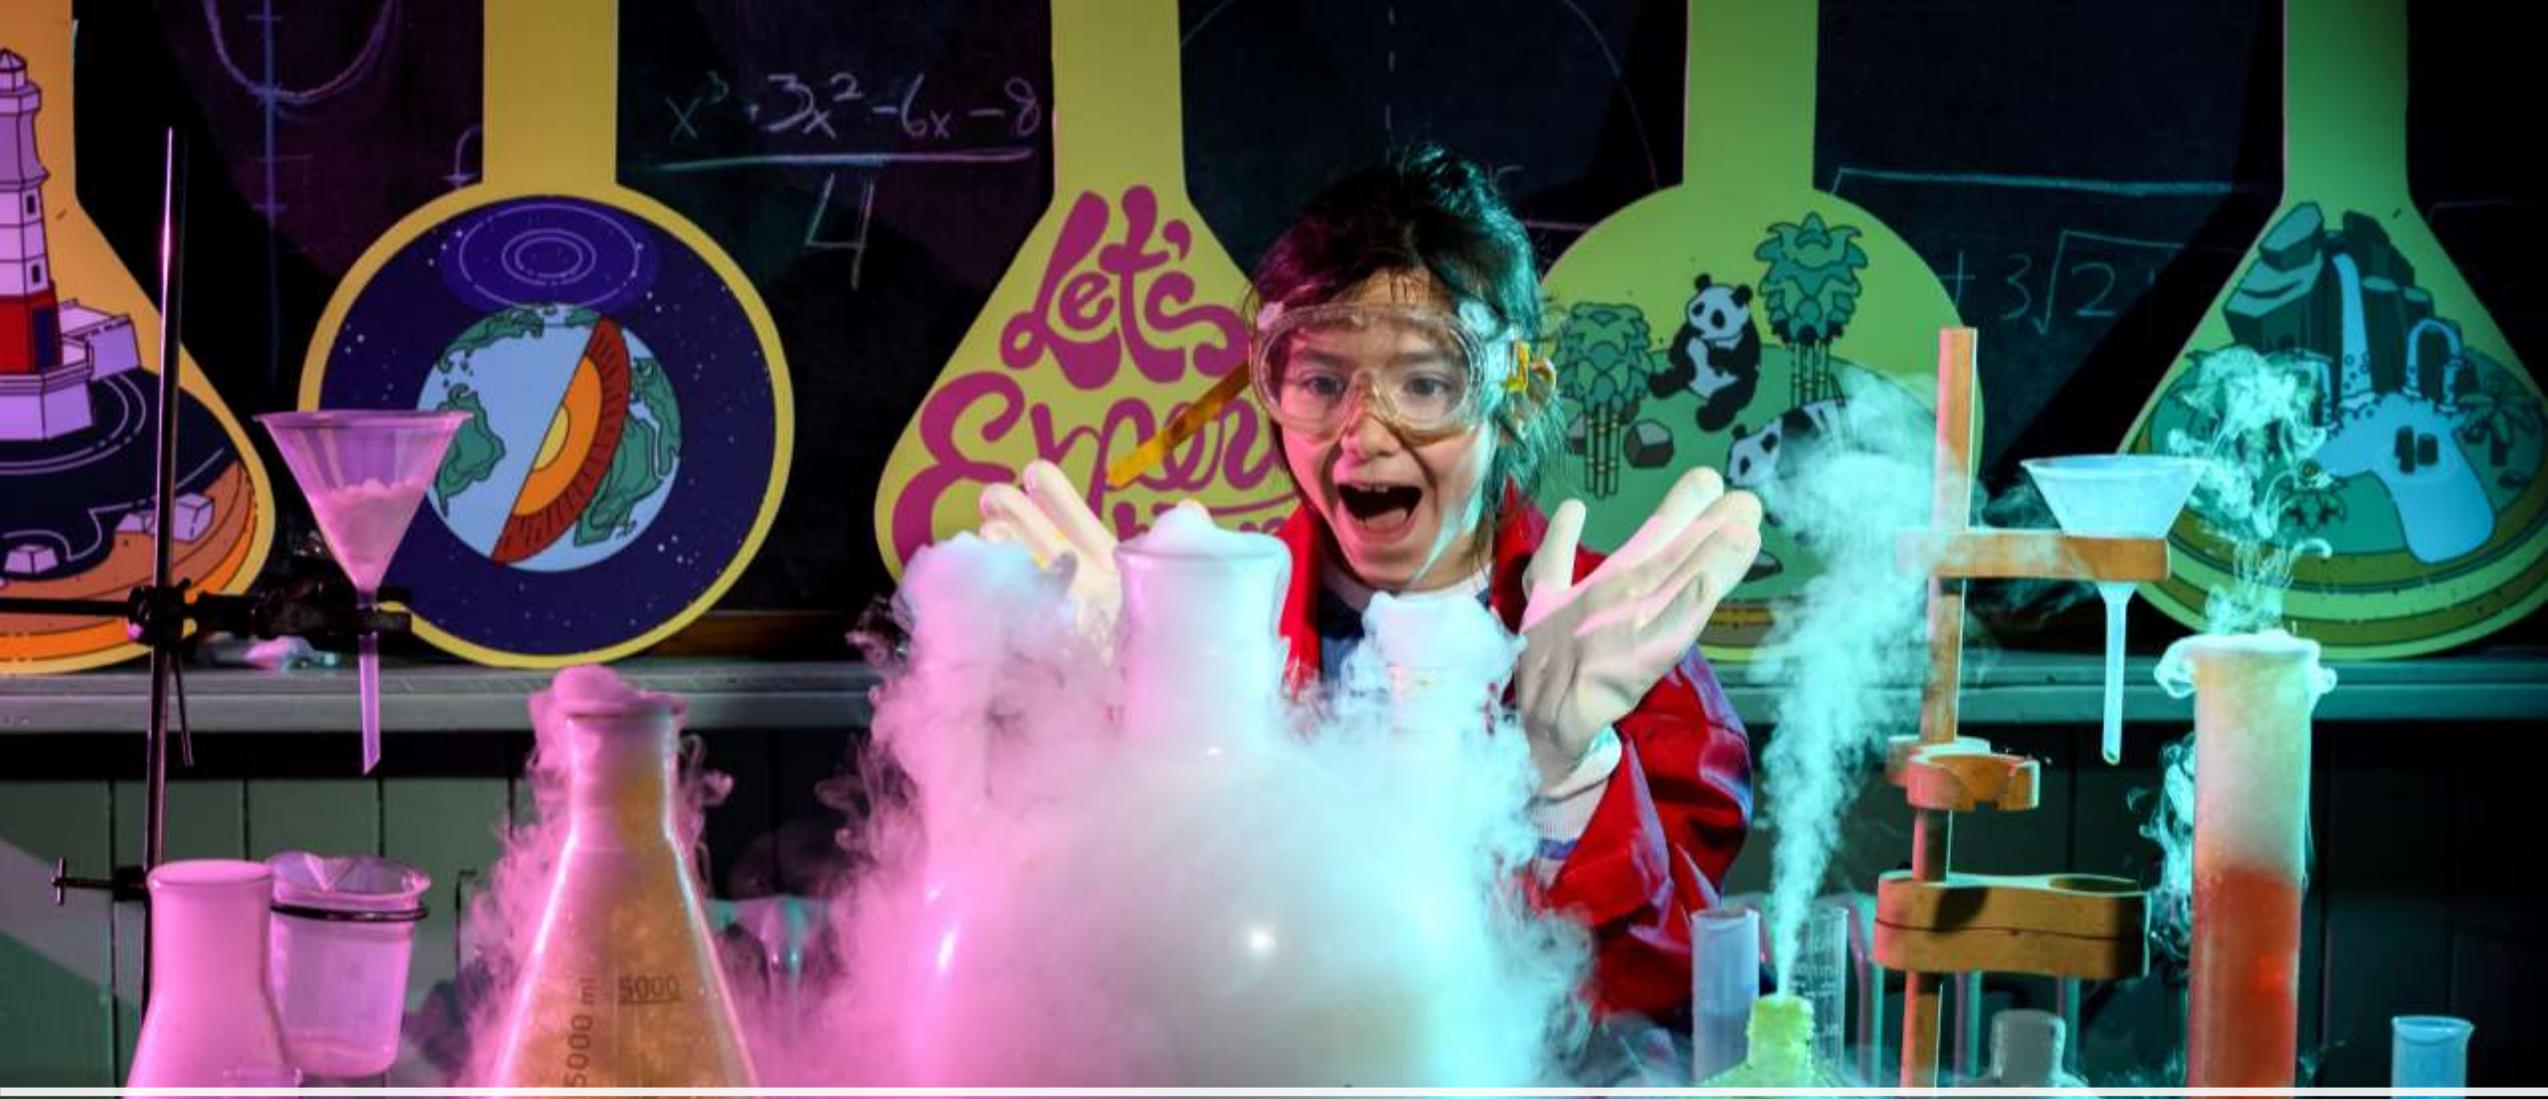

Headline Sponsor

Sponsors

Science/Evidence and Policy Active Learning (SEPAL)

NURTURE GROW THRIVE.

Increasing our science capacity in government

Strengthening links with research organisations

Chief Scientific Advisor (ENRA) plays a key role in science-policy interchange

